Powdery, Sargent and the Other Chiefs in Town Considering a Strike.

Webb Utters Defiance to the Combined Railroad Men's Forces.

Says the Vanderbilts Are Ready and Will Spend Millions to Win.

Already Engaging Other Firemen in Anticipation of the Attack.

Michigan Southern and the Chicago and Northwestern roads, would be declared off limits meeting-day.

The various labor railway organizations have, it is said, realized that the attack on the Knights of Labor means nothing less than an attack on every railway labor organization and the Federation of Employers have joined hands with the Knights to force a settlement of the present strike by arbitration or go out of them selves.

Vice-President Webb this morning looked tired and worried, and he had the appearance of a man who was more interested in his great trouble.

He told a number of reporters that his position regarding the settlement of the strike by arbitration had not changed and he would under no circumstances agree to re-read from the attitude he assumed from the beginning of the strike.

WE TALKS FIGHT, TOO.

"We are in this fight to stay," he said.

"We will not arbitrate. We will fight. Some of our men have been discharged for cause and we will neither take them back nor submit to arbitration, our reason for discharging them. They were not discharged because they were members of the labor.

They were not discharged because they were members of the labor.

He professed ignorance of and indifference to the visit to this city of the chiefs of the Trimmers' Switchmen's Conductors' and Firemen's Brotherhoods, and said that if they called on him he would give them the reception due every gentleman.

READY FOR THE FIREMEN.

"I did not think the firemen will go out," he added, "but if they do I shall be prepared for such an emergency."

I have been making arrangements for new brokers, who will take the places of those who have left, to fight to carry on and who will do everything in our power to accomplish our purpose.

"We will shut down the entire freight traffic if necessary, and we will stand by until the soldiers have read have given us their hearty support.

The preparations of war are separate on every side, and the outcome of the leaders' meeting to-day is looked forward to with absorbing interest.

PLATT AND FASSETT'S PLAN.

Further Investigation in This City Practically Abandoned.

Thomas C. Platt and Senator J. S. Sargent have prepared their plan of campaign and informed Counselor William M. Ivins what part the Senate investigating Committee, for which he acts as inquisitor, is to play in it.

No definite idea can be obtained from Mr. Ivins as to the exact nature of the plan, but what little he does say regarding it would seem to sustain the truth of the story published in THE EVENING WORLD some days ago.

In this story it was hinted that the Committee had practically abandoned the purpose of making a thorough investigation of this city's municipal departments prior to election.

Mr. Ivins says that there is uncertainty as to whether the Committee will probe into the conduct of the city business or go so far as to bring up the question of its election to it by the voters.

Mr. Ivins explains that the investigation of affairs of other municipalities referred to, and this is certainly true, is the investigation of the Fas- sett, Troy, or any other Democratic city where Mr. Platt thinks a little anti-election work of this character would result in his benefit by bringing about the recall of a particular political representative or to the inauguration of further hostilities.

Mr. Ivins was loath to discuss the meeting of the delegation of Railway Employees at Buffalo, and at first said that he was not in a position to say anything further until after the meeting.

At noon, however, he finally dictated the following:

"I regard the railroad situation today as very critical, and whether there will be further trouble on the New York Central system is still to be determined.

William, however, that everything depends on the meeting this afternoon. Our programme is to begin about 1 o'clock with Messrs. Sargent, Howard, Sweetwater and Williams, and if there is anything to happen it will then be made known.

"We have a quorum of our Executive Board here now, Mr. Wright having arrived yesterday, and we are now in position to meet.

"The Central troubles have assumed a very serious aspect for the Company and the public generally, but what development our meeting will bring forth I cannot say."

CHIEF WILKINSON TALKS.

Grand Master Wilkinson said this morning that he was here for the purpose of conferring with the Knights of Labor's General Secretary, Edward A. Sargent, and the Association of Railway Employees in the formation of a Central strike, but he declined to say what action would probably be taken.

It was general belief among the rank and file of the Knights that the secret meeting was about to take place, and the quietness to which the big strike had settled down was only the bell before the storm.

This was due to the belief that Mr. Powdery could not meet Mr. V. V. Sargent and refuse to arbitrate the difficulty with the Knights, but that he and his colleagues on the Executive Board would assume the aggressive and extend the strike.

POWDERY'S OFFER REJECTED.

In his letter to Vice-President Webb Mr. Powdery went over the whole question and the cause which led up to the strike.

He reminded Mr. Webb that more than 800 old and faithful employees of the New York Central had been summarily dismissed without cause and said, as he was informed, because they were members of and active in the Order.

Feeling that they had an inalienable right to organize in their own way they met to discuss the action of the Company in the strike. After the meeting was available, and whether the men's grievances were as stated, was a question for arbitration.

Mr. Powdery, Webb, however, refused to treat with the General Speaker of the Knights, and while the same fell to him to make the offer, Wilkinson said to him that the majority of the Executive Board of the Knights had a week ago.

NEWS TO SECRETARY SPANNING.

WANNINGTON, Aug. 19.—Acting Secretary of the Treasury Spanning said this afternoon that the Montreal story about the proposed discrimination against Canada in the matter of bonding securities was new to him, and that so far as he was aware, no change is contemplated in the present policy of the subject. He was certain that no action would be taken to discriminate against Canada.

He said that a general strike at the St. Cloud Hotel, that a general strike at the entire Vanderbilts system, including the New York Central, the Michigan Central, the Canada Southern, the Lake Shore and
